

An Update from us on COVID-19

As the situation caused by the coronavirus (COVID-19) quickly evolves, Auto Technology Company would like to assure our valued customers about Auto Technology Company employees' continued efforts and support to manage the temporary challenges.

Auto Technology Company is closely following the dynamic situation unfolding in the wake of COVID-19. The health and safety of our employees, customers and partners is our #1 priority. We are constantly monitoring and adapting to the guidelines from various government and health authorities in Ohio and the USA.

Auto Technology Company would like to give an update to reassure our commitment to support our customers and minimize the risk of disruption to their business.

- Subject to local authorities' directions, Auto Technology Company location is currently operational and will be able to support new and current orders as well as your contract testing requirements.
- We are continuously working to mitigate risks in our supply chain and work closely with our supplier network.
- Due to the current travel restrictions, we in the short-term may not be able to visit our customers. Whenever possible, we are fully prepared to manage meetings through our online tools and phone.
- Customers can reach their regular Auto Technology Company representative the normal ways via email and phone. In case of absence, you may be redirected to another representative. If you're not sure who to contact, please send an email to sales@Autotechnology.com

Should you have any additional concerns or ideas on how we can support you, don't hesitate to let us know. We won't let you down.

Sincerely,

Auto Technology Company
